"Community Leadership & Capacity Building" Course Offers Opportunities to explore new ideas

Dr. Kahl is an Assistant Professor at the University of Kentucky in the Department of Community and Leadership Development. He received his Ph.D. from Kansas State University, a Masters degree in Leadership Studies from Fort Hays State University, and his Bachelor degree in Education from Iowa State. Dan has nine years of experience in non-profit management, and nearly twenty years of experience of designing leadership programming and working with volunteers for community improvement.

A word about this class:
This class provides a great opportunity for all participants to explore new ideas in leadership and leadership development. We will explore leadership development in context of community-based leadership programs, and will have a chance to purposefully
